The Inquisitive Dutch Scientist vs. The Great Dutch General

DR. IVOR GRIFFITH

We are honored to present the following thought-provoking article written by one of America's outstanding educators, Dr. Ivor Griffith, President of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science.

"Whenever I am in doubt or question what I see—I say so. Many cannot understand my writings and frankly say they do not believe me. I console myself because I try to discover facts only—as soon as I find that I have made a mistake I am always willing to admit it."

—Antonj Van Leeuwenhoek.

Somewhere in my readings I happened upon a description of the unimpressive, simple tomb* and memorial of the Dutchman, Antonj Van Leeuwenhoek, draper of Delft—drab dealer in homespun and remnants. And one would hardly expect much of a headstone to memorialize so homely a trade as that of a simple seller of cloth. But Van Leeuwenhoek was more than a draper, more than a judge of good fabric; he was a grinder of lenses—a meticulous, masterly grinder of lenses. That was his happy hobby.

While moths grew redolent and fat on his rolls of homespun and irate customers failed to find him home, Van Leeuwenhoek kept to his avocation. His daily grind was a joy and his daily joy a grind. Lenses more perfect than ever before, and assembled more sensibly than ever before—such were his constant aims, and such at last his accomplishments. His was the eternal glory of building the first compound microscope, and his, too, the pioneer joy of seeing what man had never seen before—the first meandering microbe.

Scraping a bit of tartar from his ill-kept teeth and smearing it on a thick glass slide, he looked through his telltale assembly of lenses and actually saw the Lilliputian creatures squirming in his mouth-dirt—the first "bacteria" ever seen by mortal eye.

Out of his many discoveries eventually grew the great science of bacteriology—and it might be safely said that Pasteur and Koch, Lister and Spallanzani, and a blessed host of other benefactors of the human race gained from his initial find not just their inspiration but much of their glorious achievement as well.

* Part of the epitaph on the memorial: "As everybody, O Wanderer, has respect for old age and wonderful parts, tread this spot with respect; here grey science lies buried with Leeuwenhoek."

Van Leeuwenhoek was an epoch maker—a real pioneer who blazed the trail to a most fertile territory. Yet, strange to relate, in the humble little town of Delft, the last resting place of this great minister of science, is marked with but a simple stone, and in unkind contrast to the towering monument of another native son—a generalissimo of a sort in the Dutch army, whose right to be remembered is based on the fact that he was a splendid wielder of the battle axe and greatly gifted in the art and science of wholesale slaughter.

Such travesties on proportional values are monumental mistakes, and if those responsible for such gave greater glamor to scientists and less to the so-called grandeur of gore and war, human destinies might be changed. The true history of the race, the real progress of civilization are not matters of generals and guns.

Mankind has not been lifted to the eminences nor its future established by blood on the tip of a bayonet or by bullets that found their lodgment.

No, indeed; it is the march of the men of the microscope, and the toil of the test-tube troopers that will carry mankind on to victory—to victory in the greatest of all conflicts, the fight against disease.

Ask any American schoolboy for a list of the six great warriors of the world and ages, and he will probably say, with some variations, Alexander and Hannibal—Caesar and Napoleon—and probably MacArthur and Patton or Marshall.

How funny!! and how sad!! But what a responsibility for historians to shoulder—the hysterical historians who have glorified gore and sanctified the sword!!

How much better were it for schoolboys to know that the warriors and saviors of mankind have been men like Pasteur—humble son of the humbler tanner of Arbois, whose genius lifted burdens of pain from the shoulders of suffering humanity—and in whose honor and memory doorsteps, the world over, carry their early morning, unwitting, little white monuments of milk.

Men like Koch, discoverer of the tubercle bacillus; Roentgen, of the inquisitive ray; Scheele, the tireless apothecary of Stockholm, whose chemical discoveries were legion; Harvey, pioneer in circulation; Jenner, arch-enemy of smallpox; Fleming, of penicillin achievement; Banting, conqueror of diabetes; Waksman, discoverer of streptomycin; and countless other warriors in science—these are the men that have made real history.

These are the men whose names should be familiar to every schoolboy.

The vapid victories of generals and guns fade into insignificance beside the glory of achievement of such men as these.

Hasten the day when they shall have their fair appraisal, and when the memories of their victories shall be an inspiration to the youth of all earth.

ELIZABETH WAGNER JOHNSON

Librarian of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science

Eta Chapters are proud of Elizabeth Wagner Johnson, college librarian. Mrs. Johnson attended Moravian College before enrolling at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science. After graduation from the latter institution in 1939 she was employed as a chemist at the Eastern Regional Research Laboratory of the Department of Agriculture. In April, 1946, Mrs. Johnson was elected as librarian of the college.

During her undergraduate days Betty served as president of Eta Chapter, delegate for her chapter at the Boston Convention, and in many other college activities. Since graduation she has been a loyal member of Eta Graduate Chapter, serving that group in many official and non-official ways. She is liaison officer between the active and graduate chapters and is also adviser to Eta Chapter. In 1939 she was married to Elof F. Johnson, a member of the faculty of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science. With all her other activities, Betty finds time for her hobbies—music and gardening.

In Memoriam

JENNIE ELIZABETH THOMPSON

July 21, 1884—March 13, 1947

Born in South Boston, July 21, 1884, Mrs. Thompson attended schools in Boston and in Nova Scotia. She returned to the United States and taught school until her marriage on January 18, 1905. Through doing emergency relief work in her husband's store during World War 1, she became interested in pharmacy. She was graduated from the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy in 1920, being secretary of her class. On January 4, 1918, she became a member of Alpha Chapter of Lambda Kappa Sigma, retaining throughout her life a loyal and devoted interest in the sorority.

Mrs. Thompson had many honors given her and was a great credit to her profession and to her Alma Mater.

THE MURALS AT THE PHILADELPHIA COLLEGE OF PHARMACY AND SCIENCE

These murals, six in number, covering the entire east wall of the foyer of the college, a total length of one hundred feet, are six feet in height, the figures being in heroic proportions. The artist, Mr. William F. Matthews, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has used colors generously and skillfully, and the panorama is a vivid portrayal of an interesting theme cleverly conceived and admirably executed.

The series is arranged chronologically, and depicts certain phases and developments of the history of pharmacy from the dawn of recorded time up to the present age.

A RUSH PARTY

Members of Eta Chapter entertained some of the Freshmen at a dinner held in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, Philadelphia. Mrs. Elof Johnson, Adviser to Eta Chapter, and Mrs. Arthur Osol, Past National President of $\Lambda K \Sigma$, were our guests

CHAPTER REPORTS

ALPHA CHAPTER

Alpha Chapter is here again with a brief report and cheery spring "hello!"

Since the last issue our fold has been increased by three new members. They were made Alpha Girls at an initiation ceremony in March . . . After the initiation we treated our new sisters to dinner at Lloyd's Steak House. Of course—as always—we had a wonderful eating time.

Hygeia Day was honored with a special program arranged by the Sophomore and Junior girls. We had as a guest speaker an Army nurse who had some thrilling stories to relate. She also showed some pictures which were both amusing and educational. And speaking of pictures—Betty Mahoney contributed to the evening by showing pictures of our trip to the Convention in Oregon. Not to forget any part of the evening—we had a buffet supper after the program too.

After spring vacation we chose several more girls as candidates for membership in Alpha Chapter. Six girls were pledged on April 7th and will soon be initiated. This chapter is certainly growing by leaps and bounds—and no vitamins involved either!

With May comes the thought of our Annual Banquet which always proves to be a popular occasion. We always look forward to the banquet because it is then that we have a chance to renew old Lambda Kappa Sigma friendships.

I will close this chat for now—I'm about talked out! So until the next issue Alpha says "good-bye."

PHYLLIS C. MATSUR.

BETA CHAPTER

At a recent meeting of our chapter "rush week" and initiation were discussed. No date has been set as yet but it will be in the near future. A banquet was also planned for the new members after their initiation.

Due to an accident this month one of our members will be unable to attend school for six weeks. Each member donated money for a gift which will be sent to her with our best wishes.

Some of our girls are interested in attending the Eastern Regional Meeting and we're hoping to have a turn-out.

February 14th our chapter held a Valentine Dance with three of the fraternities. The dance was a real success for all of us.

Best wishes to all other chapters from Beta.

GERTRUDE E. JACKOWSKI.

EPSILON CHAPTER

It is more than a year until Convention time, and already we Baltimore girls can hardly wait to meet our sisters from all over the country!

The high spot of February was our Cabaret-Style Dance—even the weather man got excited, and presented us with a terrific snowstorm! A mere two or three feet of snow, however, didn't stop anyone from coming! You'd be surprised how well boots and shovels go with evening gowns! Inside all was bright and gay, and we had a memorable time.

March brought us Hygeia Day, which we observed by holding a meeting in conjunction with the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association. Dr. Thomas C. Butler of the Johns Hopkins University Medical School, lectured on "Modern Pharmaceutical Practice and New Drugs." Refreshments were served and an interesting evening was had by all.

Epsilon Chapter extends best wishes to Bernice Heyman (our pride and joy!) who is to be married soon.

CHARLOTTE RUBINSTEIN.

ETA CHAPTER

After a short vacation after semi-final exams, Eta girls are busy with more activities and plans.* We started the new semester out right by meeting with our sisters of the graduate chapter and carefully studying our constitution and by-laws. It was really enjoyable to meet with our graduate members and get better acquainted. We hope to do it more frequently in the future.

Some of our girls held a splash party, March 3rd, at the Y. M. C. A. Everyone said it was loads of fun. To supplement our interest in sports, we have again tried to organize a hostling group, and take advantage of the glorious spring beauty along the hiking trails of Pennsylvania. We celebrated St. Patrick's day with a war bond raffle, which was very successful.

April has showered lots of exciting events for us too. One highlight was the party we gave for our girls and their guests. The evening was lots of fun with dancing, music, cards, and refreshments. Garlands of fresh flowers from our school and botanical gardens made lovely decorations. Socials are such fun we hope to have many more of them.

Our last April meeting was the final one for this school year. We discussed plans for the new year and elected new officers. They are: President, Phyllis Deemer; Vice President, Etta Reed; Corresponding Secretary, Mary Lou Millikan; Recording Secretary, June McShane; Treasurer, Evelyn Rotundo. With this excellent group of officers we should have a very successful year.

In May we shall have our Senior farewell dinner and installation of officers. At this dinner we shall thank the former officers for the fine job they have done and wish the new officers off to a good start.

We hope all of you have had a successful school and sorority year. May you all have a happy summer.

CECELIA McCORMICK.

IOTA CHAPTER

Iota Chapter initiated the following girls on January 31st—Evelyn Harris, Jean Aingell, Morene Foreman, Beatrice Black, Norma Lee Coebitt, Betty Kerr, Dolores Ray, Roberta Cecil, Idalle Alkire, and Faye Kezonatos.

*In February we initiated eight Freshman girls. We celebrated with a dinner at our school. Our guests were Mrs. Osol and Mrs. Johnson, our school librarian and sponsor.

February was a busy month for us. The Oklahoma University Pharmaceutical Association, of which we all are members, held its 13th Annual Convention, and each of us had an active part in planning this big event. Some of the things on the Convention program were—papers pertaining to subjects of interest to pharmacy students, a heated election of officers, a queen contest and crowning and a formal dinner dance. Betty Kerr was elected “Miss Pharmacy of 1947.” Two more of our members were elected to serve as officers of the organization, and Belle Standifer presented the Lambda Kappa Sigma award for the outstanding girl in the School of Pharmacy.

Iota Chapter also held an election of officers recently. They are as follows: President, Katy Standley Poythresa; Vice President, Idalle Alkire; Secretary-Treasurer, Ovetta Rothmire.

We wish all sister graduates a very successful year.

LOUISE POPE.

OMICRON CHAPTER

Omicron didn't lose any time getting started this semester. We had our first all-gal party the second day of the new term. The party featured a “mock wedding” at which all of the girls had a preview of “things to come” (we hope!).

Each year Omicron awards an honor key to the graduating woman having the highest honor point rating. We are happy to make this award to Katherine Rosette at a party on April 1st.

Our “rushing” season begins April 10th with “Enterview Night,” at which time we hope to become better acquainted with our prospective members. The pledge ceremony and hazing party are also scheduled before the formal initiation on May 17th.

Dan Cupid's hard work in Omicron Chapter resulted in two weddings and an engagement recently. The brides are Millie Nicksich and Florence Tchor. Liela Mitchell received her ring on her birthday last month.

Omicron Chapter extends all best wishes to all June graduates!

HELEN NAGZANT.

RHO CHAPTER

At a regular meeting, Rho Chapter elected the following officers to serve for the 1947-48 term: President, Virginia Downing; Vice President, Betty Kizer; Secretary-Treasurer, Mary Helen Westgate.

On April 16th we are going to be very happy to have our Grand President, Imogene Geisler, visit us.

In May we are giving a banquet with Rho Chi and Kappa Psi for the new pledges of each organization.

Also in May, we are eagerly looking forward to attending the Northwest Regional Meeting to be held in Seattle—the hostess being Chi Chapter of the Washington University.

That's all the news for now.

GEORGIA FLINT.

TAU CHAPTER

Tau Chapter has been busy indeed since the turn of the New Year. Our first affair was a farewell party for the three Senior girls who were graduated in February. The dinner was held at the Fort Pitt Hotel, and at this time each graduating member was presented with a brown leather initialed cigarette case.

Rush Week began March 3rd! It started off with a party at the home of our social chairman, Betty Shanghnesy. The evening was spent at quiz program and group singing, and small gifts were given each girl. Two of our Freshman girls also entertained us with fine piano selections. Late in the evening a delicious lunch was served.

The Pledge Party was held March 17th in the Marine Room of the Roosevelt Hotel. We welcomed eight new members by presenting each with a pledge pin. Before the buffet lunch was served we all put on our prettiest smiles to have our picture taken.

On March 21st we had our group picture taken for the "Grand Duke," the university year book. This is the first time the year book has been issued in several years.

At present we are in the midst of big plans for the initiation and looking forward to meeting lots of new friends at the coming Eastern Regional.

So long for now from the Windy Bluff!

RITA FALCONE.

CHI CHAPTER

Chi has been very busy these past few months with pledging, finishing the "ordeal" for our nine pledges with the candlelighting ceremony.

Now we are concentrating our efforts on the first Western Regional Conference. The date is set for May 24th and 25th when we hope to renew acquaintances with many of the girls we met at the National Convention and to meet many more.

On May 2nd we plan a tea for those girls of the Seattle High Schools interested in Pharmacy. A great many girls overlook Pharmacy as a career, and perhaps through our contact we may interest more of them to become students of our profession.

We are looking forward to seeing the girls on the West Coast in Seattle on the 24th!

GAMMA GRADUATE CHAPTER

Gamma Graduates have had a quiet year to date, our only real accomplishment being the presentation of four Pharmacists, of about the year 1970, to the chapter for future reference. The inseparable Ann Sladky and Lillian Bruha timed theirs neatly, the babies arriving about a week apart. Eleanor Novasad, one of the newer Graduate members, followed up within a few weeks, and Bessie Burda Machek completed the foursome.

Springtime, though we haven't seen even a sample of it in Chicago, is tolling the wedding bells. Dorothy Dunovsky became a bride on April 16th, and the forthcoming marriage of Lorraine Jung has been announced.

Mabel Kettering has returned from a vacation trip to California, where her young granddaughter was given tests at Hollywood and has been accepted for a screen career as soon as a suitable part is found for her. The youngster is not only photogenic, but a talented dancer as well.

Ethel Herdlicka's tan is the envy of the other members, Ethel having acquired it during a three-week skiing trip to Sun Valley, Idaho—that gal really gets around!

Plans are going forward for the chapter's birthday party and installation of officers in June.
