President's

Message

Julia Pishalski

Our theme for this biennium: REVIEWING OUR PROUD PAST AND PLANNING A PROMISING FUTURE" implies all the usual admonitions given at the start of a new year—to keep looking ahead, to press onward, and to fix our eyes on the far horizons; however, to really carry out our theme and make it complete, it is necessary that we review our past by looking over our shoulder.

During the past year, we have made strides in expansion, education and brotherhood. We added one new chapter to our roster. We adopted a Scholarship Program which will be activated this year. We have joined the ranks of the International Pharmaceutical Students' Federation. We have fulfilled the wishes of the Hugh Mercer Apothecary Shop by contributing to it. But most important of all—we had the opportunity to meet in person at convention to exchange ideas, offer suggestions and discuss our mutual problems. There was great satisfaction in doing this and by working together it was a success.

Our progress is measured by the unity with which we strive to achieve our purpose. Each chapter assumes an obligation to maintain the high standards advocated by those who founded our sorority. Our strength, growth, progress, and achievement will be determined by the cumulative effort of all. "The whole is equal to the sum of its parts" is an axiom familiar to all of you, I am sure. It is an appropriate one for us to recall at this time. How is your chapter contributing? By meeting deadlines, obligations and co-operating with your national officers, your contribution will help add up to make it a "whole." Fulfilling your responsibility is the firm foundation that is needed for planning a promising future.

Let us try to make this the best year that Lambda Kappa Sigma has ever had!

FRATERNALISM*

by

William L. Blockstein, Ph. D.

Assistant to the Dean and Assistant Professor of Pharmacy
Wayne State University
College of Pharmacy

Madam President, Madam Chairman, Guests, and members of the 1960 Biennial Convention of Lambda Kappa Sigma:

The 1946-49 Pharmaceutical Survey disclosed an interesting fact concerning students of pharmacy. Aside from their interest in the pharmaceutical sciences, as shown by questionnaires and interviews, the greatest single interest of this group of young people was music. Now, I am sure that this interest pattern is, and could be, repeated in any gathering of pharmacists and students of pharmacy, if we did another study such as the one of fourteen years ago.

I mention this fact to you today, because I want to develop the remarks I have to make on "Fraternalism" by making an analogy to the development of a fugue, a music form not unknown to musically interested pharmacists.

The word fugue itself means "flight;" as if to say that one voice starts off and the others give chase, one after the other, hue and cry. Please note, however, that there is nothing haphazard about a properly constructed and developed fugue. Perhaps to describe it as a "conversation piece," governed by strict rules of etiquette and conduct, might give a better idea of it.

If we look at a four-part fugue, as our example, we hear the first voice opening the discussion with a remark. Naturally, the more interesting and suggestive the subject, the better for later development of the discussion. The first voice then branches off into something else, while the second voice says it rather differently. These two voices discuss; the third and fourth join in with their own versions of the original observation and rejoinder, and the debate continues to develop. Sometimes one voice holds the stage, sometimes two; the subject is repeated and varied; there is argument, questioning, answering. Always it is working toward a climax, an ultimate agreement, a cadence, and finally, an ending. All in all, "the conversation piece," or fugue, can be a thing of unending beauty.

Now, if this is a fugue, what is a fraternity, or a sorority, or a Greek letter society?

First, let me tell you that of the over 9000 national organized associations in America, recognized by the second edition of the Encyclopedia of American Associations, 118 are fraternal organizations and 307 are Greek letter societies. If the number of groups of individuals who have joined together reach those quoted above, we can assume that there was some real purpose for their having banded together for some mutuality of interest or purpose.

Let us assume then that the fraternity system banded together much as the fugue is developed by its composer. First, one person voices an idea, develops it a little, then branches off from the original idea into a picture of the future as he or she sees it. The person with whom the topic is being discussed appears to have grasped the idea, but states it in somewhat of a different manner. These two voices are joined in their discussion by a third, a fourth, and so on. One voice holds the stage, develops a point, another takes over. The topic is repeated, varied, argued, questioned, answered. All involved in the discussion continue, each in his or her own way, to lead it toward an ultimate agreement that, hopefully, is one aimed at being the best method of acting on the original topic or theme, as stated by the initial speaker.

In this way, fraternities had their beginning, and continue to conduct their affairs. Since the formation of Phi Beta Kappa as the first Greek letter secret society in America, right up to the present time, we see that the fraternity system fosters for its membership the development of ideas advanced to promote peace, friendship and brotherly love, initially among the members of the group . . . finally throughout the social system which permitted the development of the social unit known as the fraternity.

We have said that society permits the development of the social unit known as the fraternity. That this has not always been the case, all of us know. Fraternities have had their periods of ups and downs, their times of great prestige, and lowered importance. Nonetheless, the system has continued to be allowed to flourish, because the ultimate good appears to outweigh temporary deviations from the main purpose of fostering goodwill.

Goodwill can be, and is, fostered in many ways in our system. Looking at the fraternity system in schools and colleges of pharmacy, we see many examples of this. At Drake University, the brothers of Kappa Psi have undertaken the publication of a student journal for the college of pharmacy. Note that the pages are not restricted to members of the group, rather, the publication serves the entire institution.

In New York City, three undergraduate chapters of Alpha Zeta Omega fraternity and their alumni chapter have organized a combined recruitment and scholarship program for the three city schools of pharmacy. The results of this program can be measured . . . increased interest in the study of pharmacy on the part of students and high-school guidance counselors, increased numbers of applications to the schools involved, and three young people enrolling in schools of pharmacy with $500 in scholarship help to enable them to begin their career preparation.

Phi Delta Chi, on this campus, as well as on others, sponsors an award, presented to the student who is recognized as outstanding, not only for scholarship, but also for his or her interest in life away from studies, through contributions to civic or campus activities.

Rho Pi Phi, has undertaken a campaign to promote research in leukemia by having literature and collection canisters located in pharmacies operated by its members throughout this country.

Your sister sorority, Kappa Epsilon, through Professor Bonow's efforts, has made available a recruiting publication aimed at pointing out the attractiveness of a career in pharmacy for the young woman seeking a career.

The members of your own convention planning committee made arrangements for an outstanding contribution to social betterment by scheduling and holding a panel discussion on Professionals and Politics. It proved to be a stimulating and provocative evening, one that should serve as an inspiration to other planning groups, local and national, who are charged with the responsibility of making professional people aware of their role in providing informed leadership for our country.

Throughout this listing of examples of the spirit of fraternalism in action, we have tried to show some of the ways that group actions, undertaken for the common good, have a way of returning benefits far in excess of the planned objectives of the originators. This is as it should be, in keeping with the reason for our being. Each of us, individually, or collectively through our membership in the fraternity system, has accepted a charge. We have been charged with the welfare of society. We should attempt to discharge our obligations by being good citizens, by being good professional people, and by being good members of good fraternal units.

The way in which we serve mankind, in our homes, our pharmacies, through the support of our own universities, and through our participation in fraternal activities will show society that we, too, have played our part in developing the fugue-like theme that is the American fraternity system. A theme which, developed properly, governed by strict rules of conduct and etiquette, can do its part in working toward a climax, an ultimate agreement, a cadence, and an ending of wonderous beauty.

Thank You.

GRAND PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

by

JULIA PISHALSKI

At the close of the 15th Biennial Convention in Seattle, I spoke to you for the first time as Grand President of Lambda Kappa Sigma. What a thrill it was for me to accept the presidency of this wonderful sorority. Little did I dream twenty five years ago, when I was initiated into these ranks, that I would have the privilege and pleasure of serving you as your leader. The time has flown by all too swiftly. It was a wonderful and heart warming experience.

You know, as I know, that very few persons have all the qualities of a perfect leader, and I think that we make it difficult for a president, whether she is a local chapter president or national, if we expect perfection. We do, however, have the right to expect our president to shoulder her responsibilities with courage and with vision. We have the right to expect her to be fair, to be sincere, to be conscientious, and to give generously of her time, of her strength, of her talent, for the benefit of her sorority. I want you to know that tonight, as I end my first term as your Grand President, there is a prayer in my heart that I have lived up to your expectations.

You have elected an excellent new Grand Council and I am sure that working together, we can build a constructive program—a program that will help strengthen the chapters that we have and will continue to add new chapters to our international sorority. But please remember that no program can be successful unless it has the loyal and enthusiastic support of every single member. So let's face the year ahead with our shoulders squared, our minds alert, and our hearts responsive to the needs of Lambda Kappa Sigma. Let's work together as one big happy family, loyally, enthusiastically and devotedly for a better Lambda Kappa Sigma and a better world.

Two years ago, I asked that you take back to your chapters the message that "once a sister, always a sister." Again, may I reiterate? You are always a Lambda Kappa Sigma for life! We are bound together by a common interest. Sororities are here to stay as has been proven over and over again with the birth of the fraternity system 164 years ago. The closeness of common bonds along with the secrecy of the ritual makes for a closer and more lasting tie of friendship than other professional associations can offer. I hope that this convention has helped us renew our confidence, inspiration and appreciation in our membership of Lambda Kappa Sigma. How well we convince others depends upon the value we ourselves place on our organization. Let us recognize our responsibilities by taking an active part in the affairs of Pharmacy, and by our conduct, set an example for others.

It seems reasonably clear that the professional sorority, like any other organization in this modern era, must have modern reasons to exist. It is no longer possible to organize and to function, just for the purpose of having an organization for folks to belong to. It is insufficient to have as an objective the selfish attitude that membership benefits the individual through mutual association or prepares one for the life within a professional society. Survival of the professional sorority is linked ever more closely to several factors of service with applications much broader than just within the particular profession. It is within these latter areas that professional sororities must appraise themselves and establish goals with objectives that lead to concrete services to the profession involved, allied professions, and the community at large.

What are some of the objective responsibilities that professional sororities might consider? PHARMACY RECRUITMENT, for one. It is a well established fact that there is an acute manpower shortage in pharmacy. With the increase of the curriculum from four to five years in many schools, this has not helped matters much. Shortage of personnel exist in many areas. This has created problems of adequate service to the community, state or nation, and also to the legal control of professional services, particularly in the health fields. Several types of recruitment techniques have been applied. It was found that "High School Days" or "Career Days" brought but a few applicants to the pharmacy schools. Professional and academic organizations have used visual aids, literature and other materials in their recruitment programs. These also have been deemed inadequate. Dr. Franche in his inaugural address as the President of the American Pharmaceutical Association said: "It is in the local community where the pulse of pharmacy is felt." Here is where sorority members can enter into the picture. Who knows the community better than the local resident? Individual contacts by professional personnel in a community has proved to be more effective and less costly than other forms of recruitment. As you pursue your chosen profession, you are singled out as a marked woman "As you are judged so is your profession and so is womanhood." You can be the torch-bearer.

Another area of service for the professional sorority is to the EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM: In any profession the cost of the education is only borne in part by the recipient of the training. The professional sorority, through mutual understanding, interest and obligations can, let us say, make certain scholarships, such as we have set up at this convention, endowments and equipment aids available. Supporting the various programs set up by the pharmacy schools throughout the United States and Canada by the respective alumnae chapters is an aid to consider as well.

Another way to enhance the status of the professional sorority is by SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY. By co-operating in local projects, you can give your chapter a great deal of purposeful satisfaction. The physical and health needs of mankind are many and varied. It is in this area that some of the greatest contributions can be made to a better world. Doors are open to many volunteer projects where you can serve your community best.

More men and women are embarking on a professional career and find themselves married and involved in family obligations. There must be some impelling reason to belong to a sorority or fraternity. The reasons must be other than completely social. Professional programs as a part of the sorority meeting is not a strong solution to interest in membership, though it is a necessary part of a professional sorority program.

Exploration of the future status of the professional sorority would seem to indicate the opportunity for increased participation in the services to the profession, to the school and to the community. All of these factors must be based upon one's desire to organize, to be a part of society, and to be a contributor to his fellow men. One without the other is like a hospital patient and a physician, without the pharmacist to dispense the medication.

Progress in pharmacy has been inspired through the years by a particular type of person—one who does not ignore the lessons of the past but fully recognizes the problems of the future, who applies himself unselfishly to present tasks, but who also works and dreams for tomorrow's achievements. In Pharmacy, these individuals go to make up the people who blaze the trail for the profession and for humanity. These are the ones who accept added responsibilities and do things. They function best when all persons respect knowledge, value initiative and applaud qualities.

In order to do anything well, we must first set a high value on excellence. For if we were to consider the best of no consequence, there would be little reason to try to achieve it. But desire alone is not enough—it has been said, "Excellence is never granted to man but as the reward of labor." Certainly to achieve the excellence Pharmacy rightfully deserves we must face up to the fact that the price is hardship and labor. We must recognize now and in the future that effort and energy, time and sacrifice are an integral part of everything well done. The best is never the easiest. Let us keep in mind that one who is contented with what he has done will never become famous for what he will do.

We have one with us at this convention, who has had the vision and determination and has set the pace for us to follow. B. Olive Cole, may the example of your life be a pattern for all women in pharmacy to follow. We are so happy that you were able to be with us at this convention so that we could honor you personally.

Now in the matter of minutes, this lovely convention will become a memory and you probably will be travelling back to your homes, to your families and to your jobs. Many of you will be returning to campuses and your chapters. It is our sincere hope that you have learned much, absorbed some of the prevalent enthusiasm, and are brimming over with new ideas to take back to those who had entrusted you with the responsibilities as their delegate. Let me again thank you for taking the time to be with us, and my sincerest thanks to the local members for making this convention possible through their many hours of hard effort. My gratitude to the members of the Grand Council for their many hours of devotion to the business portion of this convention.

I shall be looking forward to seeing you all in Boston when we celebrate our Golden Jubilee in 1962.

CHAPTER REPORTS

GAMMA COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Hi Lambs!

Gamma Chapter has a busy schedule this year. Even though we have now started on the five year program, we have five pledges; Joyce Matinek, Jeanne Matesi, Helen Pschorr, Gail Stoll, and Laurel Turner. Included in our pledge functions was a swimming party at Austin Town Hall followed by refreshments. We learned how enjoyable Italian food is at a spaghetti dinner held for actives and pledges.

The wife of the Dean, Mrs. George Webster, held a tea at her home for all the women in Pharmacy. It was a very pleasant afternoon and we wish to thank Mrs. Webster.

In addition to the other functions, we have held many informal coffee hours to offer an opportunity for actives and pledges to get to know each other.

On January 21 the biggest event on Gamma's calendar took place. Our annual dance "Shibui" (the most elegant) was held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. The dance was financed through a successful patron drive. Many thanks to the girls who put forth their effort to make the dance a success.

In February we plan to have a bake sale. The alumnae chapter has volunteered to help supply the bake goods. Also in February will be the Winter Carnival. All the sororities and fraternities in the Medical Center participate. This is an annual event which is enjoyed by all. See you next issue.

Fraternally,
Nanci Sue Beilman

EPSILON COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Dear Sisters:

Once again it is time for us to exchange gossip and let you know what we are doing constructively. Nothing new has happened since our last issue. We are still struggling through school and trying to pass by the skin of our teeth.

We do have some future plans though. Our pledge initiation is coming up soon and although we don't have anything planned as yet for our informal one, I'm sure that it will be amusing to the sisters and certainly a different experience for the pledges. A formal dinner initiation will be held with our alumnae chapter.

For Hygeia Day, we plan to have a professional program, perhaps a display in our model pharmacy in school.

Well girls, I finally hooked a man. He is a pharmacist too, but I don't know whether that's good or bad! Both Elaine Evert and I are planning summer weddings.

For one of our social activities, we're having an ice skating party during semester break. Good thing it's then because I know we're going to be sitting on pillows for a week.

Since the Student Union has opened with a wide variety of hungry male traffic, we are going to have a February bake sale there instead of in the Pharmacy Building where we usually have it.

We hope you all had as nice a Christmas as we did, and wish you much happiness for this New Year of 1961 and all the years to come.

Your sister,
Nancy Sappe

ETA COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Hi Lambs,

A belated Merry Christmas and Happy New Year! Have you made your resolutions yet? And broken them? Eta would like to thank all the chapters for their Christmas cards.

We would like to congratulate Lois Nickel, our treasurer, on receiving an award at the annual Award's Assembly.

Our rush parties were a tremendous success. The first of which was informal and the theme was Never Never Land. Everyone of the members attended in a costume of a storybook character. Peter Pan and Captain Hook were the central figures. After a buffet supper, a skit that was a modern version of Cinderella, was presented. As favors we gave the girls little paddles with the name of the party and sorority on them. When the party was over the members took the rushees to our brother fraternity, Kappa Psi, for some co-ed socializing.

Despite the big snow storm here, we managed to have our second party as planned.

A dinner was held at a Stouffer Restaurant in Wynnewood. The girls took little white stuffed lambs home for favors. After a wonderful dinner we went to Kappa Psi again.

We are not only proud and pleased at the success of these social affairs, but also at the new pledge class. When all the RSVP's were received we found that we now have 21 pledges this year. To these future members of Eta Chapter and to all other chapters we would like to extend sincere congratulations. We hope, being a member will prove to be a step to a fuller, richer life both professionally and socially.

Fraternally,
Vickey Barsky

MU COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Mu Chapter has doubled their membership by pledging three new girls to make a total of six. Since there were not enough girls to perform the Founders' Day ritual properly, we had Joan Woodruff, our convention delegate, give her report.

Late in October, our chapter participated, with Kappa Psi and our local A.Ph.A. branch, in the annual Activities Roundup; this roundup consists of various displays put on by the clubs and other organizations of the university. Our pharmacy display won first place! Our many hours of work was certainly rewarded!

Elizabeth Dykstra, one of our new pledges, won the Belle Dirstine award for the junior woman with the highest G.P.A. Helen Rowland, our vice president, won the Rho Chi award for the senior with the highest G.P.A. Helen also was recently invited to join Phi Kappa Phi honorary.

Til next time.

Fraternally,
Joan Woodruff

NU COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Dear Sisters,

Greetings from Drake University and the snow country! The school year is well underway and we can now report ten pledges for Nu chapter. We are proud of our good group.

A good deal of Christmas activity went on as far as the Nu Lambs are concerned. We served refreshments for the APhA Christmas party. All went well except for the fact that twice too much sherbert was ordered with which to brew the punch. The result was an extremely thick punch which tasted good nevertheless. And our accomodating Dean Benton consented to buy the left over sherbet after a little encouragement.

For the first time in years, Nu chapter produced hand made Christmas cards. This was a good project with about half the membership taking part and we were pleased with our result. We also have a little project going on that we got the idea for in Detroit at the convention, from the Omicron alums. So we're making organdy aprons with a lamb applique.

We had a most elegant Christmas party before departing for Christmas vacation. We dined at the new Holiday Inn and had a joyous time. Congratulations were sung to Sandy Johnson who is wearing a Kappa Psi pin and to Georgia Safford and Karen Kreuger who have new diamond rings. And Happy Birthday was sung to president Carol Robinson. If the party had been a week or so later we could have sung congratulations to her, too, because she has traded her Kappa Psi pin in on a diamond ring.

After dinner those who weren't facing an exam the next morning or something equally gasty adjourned to Broadlawns Polk County hospital where we decorated three Christmas trees. Our advisor, Miss Mote had special refreshments for us after we had finished the tree in "her" pharmacy.

Our Christmas Kindness project this year was a donation to World University Service.

We have set up a telephone tree system to use in notifying members of meetings or spreading news of some sort. This cannot be termed a total success yet, but gradually each of us is becoming impressed with the importance of passing the information.

Our president of last year, Ellene Deets and her husband have a baby girl born early in December. And Ellene with only four days of apprenticeship left!

We're hoping to see you next issue and in Boston in 1962!

Fraternally,
Liz Thomsen

PI COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Greeting Lambs:

Pi Chapter has been very lucky this year, we have seven pledges. There are six sophomore pledges and one senior pledge. In the fall we held two very successful cake sales. The sorority also set up a Christmas holiday display case in the main corridor of the college of pharmacy.

We are now in the midst of our final exams and all are studying very diligently. Since we have the week following exams, as a vacation, the sorority has planned a festive, fun-filled week. On Tuesday the pledges are giving the sisters a dinner, on Wednesday the sisters and pledges are going to New York to see "Fiorello" and then out to dinner.

One of the sisters, Sandy Wehrle, has asked all the girls to go down to her family's summer home in Forked River and we are going there to have a slumber party and a skating party. On Sunday night the sorority is having a date party. We are planning to have our hell night some time at the beginning of February and the initiation dinner will be held at the end of February.

That's all for now. Good luck to all in the Spring semester.

Fraternally yours,
Catherine Coltre

RHO COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Rho Chapter here at Oregon State University has been increased by the addition of 10 new members. Nine girls from the junior class and one senior were recently invited to join our chapter. With the additional members, we hope to become even more active. Our pledge program will be underway shortly under the direction of Vickie Durham, vice president. An initiation potluck dinner will be given for the new members at the home of Carol Nelson.

During the weeks before Christmas vacation, the Pharmacy Building was noticeably improved by the presence of the Christmas spirit due to the efforts of our chapter. We decorated the Christmas tree, carefully chosen by Fran Walker and Vickie Durham, with paper chains, popcorn chains, cranberry chains, and snow flakes. We also made Christmas wreaths out of holly to be placed throughout the building. This was a most enjoyable project as we went over to Carol Nelson's home to make all of the decorations, and had loads of fun, too.

In the near future, we hope to have a get together with the Rho Alumnae chapter in Portland, Oregon. We would like to have a dinner meeting in which we can discuss various plans for both chapters.

Fraternally,
Carol Hisatomi, Secretary

TAU COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Hi Lambs;

The sisters of Tau Chapter at Duquesne University welcomed the freshmen women in pharmacy by holding a party for them on campus. Refreshments were served and games were played. A tour of the labs and explanations of such was conducted by the senior members. These labs included the Pharmacognosy lab, the mock pharmacy, the Dispensing lab, and the new manufacturing lab. The evening came to a close by playing charades in which all the members, and the faculty advisor, participated. We of Tau chapter feel that this informal party has increased the bond of friendship which exists between its sisters and our future sisters.

A sled-riding party is also being planned for the near future. It will be held with the Phi Delta Chi fraternity from D.U. It will be held at one of the parks here in Pittsburgh. If, however, the weatherman does not provide us with an ample amount of snow, a wiener roast and song fest will result.

See you next issue.

Toni Szalay

CHI COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Hi Lambs,

Chi Chapter at the University of Washington started off the new year by completing plans for pledging and initiation of our new members. This year the pledges' duties included polishing the trophies displayed in the Dean's office and in the Pharmacy Library. Pledge activities were supervised by Judy Sibbitt, Pledge Trainer. The seven pledges were treated to a surprise fireside party at the home of our president, Gurine Nordby. The Initiation Banquet took place in the Edmond Meany Hotel on January twenty-third.

Sally Henderson, our secretary, brought all of the lovely Christmas cards Chi Chapter received to the first meeting of the year and we would like to thank you for them. Dorothy Miller added to our scholastic honors by making the Dean's list for good grades. Belated congratulations are in order for Nancy Horst who was married last summer. Janet Eltz, our treasurer, reports that our treasury is doing fine thanks to the candy that we sell in the labs.

Chi Chapter wishes all sister chapters an active and successful year.

ALPHA ALPHA COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Hope you have had as an eventful season as we have! In November our chapter newspaper was published by Elaine DeCucatis, our vice president. On November 30 we had a successful bake sale and had a composite photograph taken of all chapter members.

On December second we initiated two sophomores, Sandra Jacoby and Catherine Masiello. This brings our membership to twenty five. This month we purchased a banner with the sorority and chapter name.

Before vacation we exchanged Christmas gifts but have had to postpone our party until January because of continuous snowy weather.

Fraternally,
Janet Zoole

ALPHA DELTA COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Hi Lambs!

Well a wonderful vacation has come and gone and all of us at Michigan are looking forward to a brand new year. We are starting off the year with 12 new pledges. They are: Sophomores: Diane Morris, Faye Campbell, Gloria Tinker, Patricia Boyle, Chairmaine Brasseur, Mary Lou Brensier, Mary Montante, and Linda Onweller. Our freshmen are Mary Asprin, Ann Cameron, Arlene Kostur, and Suzanne Sandt. We also welcome Mrs. James Richards as our new advisor. Pledging took place on Sunday morning November 13th. Afterwards each active treated her "little sister" to breakfast at a local restaurnat. We are very proud of this years pledge class.

The pledges gave us a very nice Christmas party before vacation started. They presented a skit, passed out the Christmas gifts we exchanged, and they also served the refreshments.

The Alpha Delts hope you all have a very happy new year.

Fraternally yours,
Judy Swenson

ALPHA ZETA COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

With the fall semester drawing to a climatic end, i.e., with finals staring us in the face, Alpha Zeta is reviewing a semester of high achievements and preparing to carry on its good marks for the spring semester.

The fall car wash was a good clean start and was followed up by a gigantic Card Party which grew into one of the biggest financial successes the chapter has sponsored for some time. This was followed up by more fun and profit through a sale of St. Louis College of Pharmacy sweat shirts to the students, their families, and the faculty; as an added treasury tidbit special Lambda Kappa Sigma sweat shirts were made up for the sorority members. And someplace in the middle of all this, our new members proved their loyalty and sincerity by pledging, and were then formally initiated at a monthly dinner meeting.

A tree-trimming party at the college celebrated the beginning of winter vacation and an Inter-Fraternity Dance is being planned as "the" social event of the Spring Semester. For the future we're also planning to have speakers trade some of their knowledge for a good time as well as a good meal at our meetings.

We think we're really rolling and intend to keep things going at an even and energetic pace. Good luck to all the chapters during the new semester.

Lyla Medalie

ALPHA IOTA COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Dear Lambs,

We of Alpha Iota want to wish our sisters across the nation the happiest of New Years. We hope that 1961 will prove to be most successful for one and all—both scholastically and otherwise.

We're happy to be able to report that we were able to finish our 1960 school year in the same wonderful way it had been going. We were so proud to claim first place in the sorority division with our float in the Homecoming parade. Our theme was "You've Got to Have Heart" and we spent many hours building our float. We've unanimously agreed it was worth the effort! Our annual mum sale on the day of the game (which we won, incidentally!) was also a big success.

A belated banquet to honor our Spring term pledge class was held in October. We ate and ate at a table decorated beautifully in an Autumn theme. Much fun was had by all!

For the first time, the sororities on our campus had pledging during the fall term. It was a great success, and we now hope it will become traditional at Ferris. As a result we have two new Lambs to add to our increasing flock. On January 3, Sandra Banfield and Sandra Hinkle were initiated. Winter rush began with Panhellenic Tea on November 12, so we're looking forward to having more pledges soon.

We joined Panhel and the Inter-fraternity Council in sponsoring our annual Christmas party for the underprivileged children of Big Rapids. We had such fun wrapping gifts in preparation, and then on December 10 watching the children's joy as they opened them and were otherwise entertained during the day.

To end our year on a gay and happy note we joined our brothers, Phi Delta Chi, on December 12 for our annual Christmas party. We exchanged inexpensive gifts and otherwise had lots of gaiety and fun. It was a welcome relief to have a party, as we were recuperating from our final exams of the previous week.

We'd like to take this opportunity to thank all of our sister chapters who sent us Christmas cards. They were so lovely!

We're looking forward to having another successful year as we return from our Christmas vacation. Our activities begin immediately with our open rush party scheduled for January 4. We've chosen a Mexican theme for our closed rush party to be held January 9.

Again, best wishes for a wonderful new year.

Bonnie Bliss

ALPHA MU COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

Dear Lambie's, —

Since the Fall issue we initiated 6 new actives: They are Joan Bender, Marcia Forbes, Geraldine Lopinski, Norma Moll, Judy Niebel and Rose Williams.

We helped Kappa Psi celebrate Dean Larwood week which was in honor of our dean the week of his birthday. The idea came about because it was thought that it would be better to honor a person while he is still active rather than waiting until he retires. A telephone system was donated to the senior dispensing lab in his name.

One cold Saturday morning in November seven of us got up at 7:0 A.M. to decorate and ride in a car in the Homecoming Parade. We had hopes that our boys would emulsify the opposing team in a giant mortar and pestle; however, after a good fight we lost the game.

Around Christmas time we had a potluck Holiday Party. After the gift exchange a "surprise santa" appeared with personality gifts for each member. A good time was had by everyone.

Fraternally,
Alpha Mu

ALPHA XI COLLEGIATE CHAPTER

As we come to the end of this fall semester of 60-61, we stop to think—What have I accomplished this semester? What have I learned? This question is often asked since finals are so near. Alpha Xi would like to tell what she has done and learned.

Her annual Christmas breakfast was held at President Genellen's apartment. As usual, it was a real success.

She decorated and gave Christmas trees to the Pharmacy office and library.

She held a Christmas party at the hospital ward where her members are doing volunteer services. They were so deeply appreciative and so heartily welcomed the girls, it was almost sad. Refreshments were served and bingo played for prizes to a background of soft Christmas music.

Her members are planning a theatre trip to San Francisco after the semester starts again.

A new bulletin board of triangular shape has been purchased and will be placed between the two fraternity boards in the Science building.

A graduate member, Ellen Lawseth, was married this fall.

Alpha Xi proudly announces the change of her school name from College of Pacific to University of Pacific.

We want to wish all the chapters luck and success in their coming semester of school.

Marilyn McAtee

ALPHA ALUMNAE CHAPTER

On November 21, 1960 the Alpha Alumnae Chapter presented a Night of Glamour at the Hotel Somerset—the site of our Golden Anniversary Convention to be held here in Boston in 1962.

Cocktails preceded the evening's program which consisted of facial makeup applications presented and demonstrated by Miss Olivia Heraty—An Elizabeth Arden representative. Models were called forth from the floor to be glamorized. And to honor us at this meeting was our own Mrs. Mary Livingston—one of our Charter members who acted as one of the lovely and charming models.

Our evening was very enjoyable and very successful. Door prizes were drawn and gifts were distributed to the 120 present which also included a large number from our collegiate chapter.

The enthusiasm of this event spearheaded already and a committee has been appointed for our next social event of flower arrangements demonstrated by one of our members to be held in the spring.

Elissa Karaian

GAMMA ALUMNAE CHAPTER

The Christmas Party on December 7, at the Martinique Restaurant and Drury Lane Theater was a huge success, every one had a grand time. Many thanks to Carol Maher, social chairman and Theresa Hula, co-chairman for all their efforts.

Two of our members have new addresses. Nancy Lyon, 1331 Plum, Aurora, Ill. and Helena Fu, 2005 Warren St., Evanston, Ill.

Marietta C. Day, who is living in Story, Wyoming, went on a three month European tour last summer and Ann Sladky vacationed with her husband in Europe last fall.

Marie E. Hrnccirik

EPSILON ALUMNAE CHAPTER

The November meeting of the Epsilon Alumnae Chapter was held at the home of Mrs. Noel Foss, wife of the Dean of the School of Pharmacy. Our hostess served dinner prior to the business meeting. There were twelve members present and one guest, Miss Ursula Heyer. Miss Heyer is the Chief Pharmacist at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

The January meeting was held at the home of Miss Mary DiGristine. Our hostess served dinner prior to the business meeting.

May we take this opportunity to wish each of you a happy and healthful year.

Mary Connelly

OMICRON ALUMNAE CHAPTER

Greetings from Omicron Alumnae, Detroit, Michigan.

After being very busy with convention preparations this past year, we have settled to a slower pace and we are enjoying leisurely meetings with one another.

Congratulations are again in order to our Grand President, Julia Pishalski, for receiving a Distinguished Service Citation at the third annual alumni reunion dinner of Wayne State University, College of Pharmacy, held at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel on October 25, 1960. A number of our sorority sisters attended and all had a very enjoyable evening.

We observed Founders' Day at our October meeting with the candle lighting ceremony at the home of Julia Pishalski. It is always an inspiration to review the history of Lambda Kappa Sigma and the forming of her many chapters all over the country.

Our traditional Christmas party which is held in place of our regular December meeting was held at the home of Virginia Budden. Our menu consisted of spaghetti with antipasto that our hostess graciously offered to prepare and spumoni ice cream with a delicious assortment of Christmas cookies supplied by the girls.

Best wishes for a successful and healthful New Year.

Gloria Walsh

PHI ALUMNAE CHAPTER

Hi Everyone;

Greetings from Phi Alumnae Chapter in Indianapolis, Indiana. Now for a short revue of the past few months. We had a Weiner Roast at the home of Lucille Kavanagh, and invited the girls from school. We held our meeting and Founders' Day ritual, after our guests had returned to the Campus.

For one of our money making projects, we held a raffle and gave away a Bell and Howell movie camera, projector, screen, and lights. Eva Lorentz, again proved to be our super saleswoman; she alone, sold enough tickets to cover all the expenses involved in the raffle. Oh, if only Eva could have been triplets, we at Phi Alumnae could all retire.

We held our Christmas Party in the brand new home of Pat O'Shaughnessy. She had to hurry the contractor, to get it built, so that we could have our Party on schedule. We invited all the girls in Pharmacy from Butler to this event. We had a big Turkey, and all the trimmings. Eva Lorentz baked the turkey, and it was delicious. The rest of the menu was a pitch-in affair. We did not break last year's attendance record; but the inclement weather must face the responsibility for the dip in attendance. We had about a foot of snow on the ground, and the temperature hovered around 5 below zero. We again donated our dollars to the family of the child we send to the school for the Retarded. We do this instead of a gift exchange.

Our thanks to all our Sister Chapters for their Christmas cards.

In closing, may we at Phi Alumnae take this opportunity to wish all our Sister Chapters a most successful and happy year.

Fraternally,
Joan Fritz

CHI ALUMNAE CHAPTER

Chi Alumnae sends their best wishes for a happy and prosperous new year to all her sister chapters. We hope 1961 will be a successful year for everyone. For us, the year got off to a good start with the University of Washington Huskies winning the Rose Bowl game for the second successive year on January 2. That was an exciting event for many of us who are football fans.

Our 1960 year ended happily with a Christmas party at the home of Venda Holt. Venda did a beautiful job of decorating her home and preparing delicious refreshments which added to the festive occasion. We had a little game of exchanging gifts and also gave gifts to three Dirland Sanatorium patients (tuberculosis).

Our January meeting was at Marilyn Palmer's home. We heard a very interesting talk on the subject of cancer. We also had our election of new officers. With so much suburban living in the Seattle area now, we really have to travel to our monthly meetings. Our December meeting was at Venda's home, which is way up north of Seattle, and our January meeting at Marilyn's, which is in Bellevue, southeast of Seattle. However, it is always fun to visit the different neighborhoods.

Chi Collegiate will be having their initiation and we are looking forward toward attending it.

Elaine Ohiyama

ALPHA ETA ALUMNAE CHAPTER

Hi Lambs! We like to say thank you to all the chapters that sent us Christmas cards. The cards that we sent out this year were part of a project that we set up. With the aid of an artist friend, we learned the process of silk screening and using this technique we were able to make the cards ourselves.

At this year's Christmas party we decided to make the gifts to be exchanged ourselves. The girls really made some unique presents and it turned out to be a delightful evening.

Two of our members recently arrived from a stay in Europe. Ruth Angevin and her family returned from a pleasant three year stay in Germany. Janet Nielsen returned nicely from an accident she had there. Congratulations also to Janet on her recent marriage to Edward Schrama.

There have been some additions to a few of our families. Iris Casson had a baby girl and Joyce Scholobb had a baby boy. Best wishes!

We hope to see many of you at our October Eastern Regional Convention, to be held here in New York City.

Fraternally,
Adrienne Alexanian

PHARMACY TO AID POLIO CONTROL PROGRAM

Advisory Commission To Draft Plans
Based on Findings Submitted to Surgeon General

The American Pharmaceutical Association, along with other organizations in the health and welfare areas, participated in a two-day conference of the Surgeon General's Committee on Poliomyelitis Control. The APhA was represented by Robert E. Abrams, Secretary of the American College of Apothecaries, an APhA affiliate, and Ralph S. Tilly, member of the APhA Committee on Professional Relations.

At this meeting, held at the Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Georgia, on January 23-24, 1961, extensive reports were presented by numerous consultants and Public Health physicians including Surgeon General Leroy Burney, Drs. Jonas E. Salk, Albert B. Sabin, A. D. Langmuir, Roderick Murray, and C. A. Smith.

The Committee indicated the four poliomyelitis control goals:

1. Eradication of polio from the population.
2. Prevention of endemic outbreaks.
3. Prevention of epidemics.
4. Control of epidemics.

To achieve these goals the Committee recommended that:

A. Immediate steps be taken to intensify drives for vaccination with Salk Vaccine.
B. Priorities for immunization be suggested which include children under age six as the primary goal and children under 10 and parents of young adults as the second most important group.

C. All immunization be handled under medical supervision.

D. Approved the dosage schedule for Salk immunization similar to that now in use, except the third dose should be administered before the polio season even though seven months had not elapsed between doses.

E. Communities conduct periodic evaluation of poliomyelitis immunization status.

F. The National Poliomyelitis Surveillance Program be continued and expanded.

G. Behavioral studies be made to determine why people do not utilize the vaccine more extensively.

H. Research in the field of inactivated virus vaccines and oral vaccines be intensified.

I. The Public Health Service should continue to make every effort to encourage the early production and ready availability of an oral polio vaccine.

J. If the first available supplies of oral poliovirus vaccine should be limited in amount, then priorities for use should be epidemic control, investigations and community studies; second—immunization of infants and preschool children; and third—selected areas of population.

K. The use of vaccines, Salk or oral, when available should be intensified in the face of an epidemic.

L. The Public Health Service should maintain an epidemic reserve of oral poliovirus vaccine.

On January 16, 1961, a meeting of the Pharmacy Advisory Commission on Poliomyelitis Control was held in Washington, D. C., to formulate recommendations which were submitted by representatives of Pharmacy at the Atlanta meeting. "as a result of the Pharmacy Advisory Commission on Poliomyelitis Control meeting." APhA Secretary William S. Apple stated, "pharmacy was prepared and contributed several constructive suggestions to the Surgeon General's Committee."

Because it was the consensus of the Atlanta conference that no oral product will be available for the 1961 polio season, APhA plans to call another meeting of the Pharmacy Advisory Commission to develop plans for cooperating with medicine at the county and community level in promoting the recommended program of fuller use of the currently available Salk vaccine.

Attending the January 16th Pharmacy Advisory Commission meeting were Robert E. Abrams, representing the American College of Apothecaries; Robert M. Leonard, representing the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy; Joseph A. Oddos, representing the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists; Joseph Cohen, representing the Metropolitan Drug Association Secretaries; James O. Hubbard, Jr., representing the National Conference of State Pharmaceutical Association Secretaries; and Ralph R. Rooke, the National Association of Retail Druggists representative to the Surgeon General's Committee on Poliomyelitis Control.
