TELLING OUR STORY

by E. Michelle Valentine

Sisters of Lambda Kappa Sigma, please allow me to take advantage of this opportunity to submit an opinion on a topic dear to me as a pharmacist. Gloom and doom have had and always will have a better chance of making the headlines. But, what I believe pharmacy needs now and tomorrow is more positive headlines and stories about what we do and how we do it. My friends and colleagues know that I preach this constantly; pharmacy needs to do a better job of sounding its own horn to the general public.

We are educated for a minimum of 5 years to additionally become problem solvers, expert communicators, to think critically, act as the first stop for health care referrals, and yet we do a negligible job of informing our patients about this. We have been trained by our parents and teachers to be quiet, hard working, honest professionals, who will be rewarded by the public because we're good. We've been waiting for that reward for a long while, and some may say the Gallup reaffirmation is it; but I disagree. We've got to tell the public, the elected officials, our neighbors and relatives just what our training is and what we're doing today. If we continue to rely on what is commonly known about us, then we must continue to be content with Madison Avenue's 1950s treatment of us, the courts', and especially the lawyers', knowledge and attitudes about us, and finally the bureaucrats' ignorance of us. We must begin to loudly and continuously tell our story.

People generally don't know we need a 5 year baccalaureate degree to be a "druggist;" lawyers don't see us as professionals on the same plane as physicians, dentists, nurses, or themselves. We are not so fortunate, or unfortunate, as to have a television show about us; that alone would equal billions of dollars worth of increased awareness of us. But, I'm not here to advocate a writing campaign to the networks to create a pharmacist sit-com. I am advocating that each of us does one thing for the public's knowledge to benefit pharmacy.

We do dozens of noteworthy activities, incredible accomplishments. A

OUTSTANDING ALUMNA E. Michelle Valentine

When we speak of leaders, we think immediately of those who are our association leaders. Michelle Valentine is certainly a leader in this area as she now serves on the APhA Board of Trustees and has been a Speaker of the Senate of the Washington Pharmaceutical Association and Vice Speaker of the APhA House of Delegates.

We feature Michelle in this TRIANGLE as one of our outstanding alumnae. Michelle is professionally involved as Community Externship Liaison at the University of Washington and is a community pharmacy practitioner. She has been honored with the Upjohn Achievement Award, the McKesson and Robbins Presidential Gavel and is a member of Rho Chi. In addition to her activity with Lambda Kappa Sigma and APhA, Michelle is a member of The American Institute of the History of Pharmacy, The Drug Abuse Council of Snohomish County, and state and local pharmacy organizations and the Snohomish County Medical Association Auxiliary.

Her professional service has been extensive on both the national and local level. She currently chairs the Advisory Committee of the William S. Apple Memorial Program in Community Pharmacy Management.

GRAND PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The APhA Task Force on Women in Pharmacy was developed in the late 1970's. In the Task Force's report in 1981, recommendations were made which included pharmacy organizations' need of women in leadership roles.

Our theme for this Blue & Gold TRIANGLE is leadership. The APhA recommendations reach out beyond state and national pharmaceutical associations and into community involvement in general and pharmacy practice specifically.

Leadership roles have been taken by LKS women for decades — in fact, that's part of our origin. Whenever the PTA, Scouts, the Cancer Society, or any organization has needed volunteers, we have been among them, often leading the way.

Recently, several of our members have made significant contributions in leadership circles. Trudy Reavis, as president of the Washington Pharmacy Association, and Jackie Floyd, as president of the Alaska Pharmaceutical Association, represent Chi Chapter and the profession of pharmacy well. Carmela Silvestri, a Rutgers (NJ) student and LKS member, is completing her term as president of the Student APhA. Certainly, these honors are just what the APhA Task Force had in mind.

Joan Pescatore, of New Jersey, has been cited by that state's commissioner of health "in recognition of dedicated services and outstanding contributions for the betterment of the citizens of the state of New Jersey." Joan chaired the state committee which convinced the Department of Health of patient safety factors and cost-effectiveness of contemporary pharmacy systems.

These ladies are among those leading the way. Many others have undoubtedly attained other significant milestones. Let's hear about it!

HOPE IN THE MIDWEST

For the past 20 years Lambda Kappa Sigma has had Project HOPE as its philanthropy. This article is to highlight the activities of the Midwestern Region chapters in earning their contributions. Some chapters have old traditions, while others are trying new ideas.

The idea for "Hopscotch for HOPE" originated at Nu Chapter in Des Moines, Iowa. This activity proved successful for Nu Chapter, so they shared the news. Now several chapters have "Hopscotch" as an annual event. Nu Chapter held their 1985 Hopscotch games on February 23 in a local mall. Alpha Iota Chapter in Big Rapids, Michigan held their Hopscotch on September 25, 1984. They set up their "courts" in the very busy parking lot of a pharmacy and grocery store. Flyers were passed out and local radio stations reported of the activity. Alpha Iota raised $375.00 for HOPE from pledges from family and friends along with donations from local shoppers.

Alpha Iota Hopscotching for HOPE

Each morning Alpha Iota holds a Coffee Hour in the lobby of the Pharmacy building at Ferris State College. From the original selling of coffee and tea for the morning classes, this activity was expanded to selling hot chocolate, orange juice and donuts and now to the expansion of the hours and selling soup and granola bars. The money from Coffee Hour goes to Project HOPE and other charities. Another tradition is the Homecoming Mum Sale. Flyers were distributed throughout campus for orders from students in the dorms and special order sheets were given to all the social and professional groups on campus. Advanced sales of 200 mums were taken this year leaving 300 to be sold at the Homecoming parade and game. Alpha Iota raised $500.00 for Project HOPE with the Mum Sale.

Alpha Zeta Chapter in St. Louis, Missouri modified the Hopscotch idea they had used in the past. Alpha Zeta is having a "Hike for HOPE." Much like a walk-a-thon, Alpha Zeta sisters are taking pledges for the distance "hiked" on February 23.

In Toledo, Ohio, Alpha Mu sisters are setting up their annual Pharmacy Fun Night. The sisters reserve a local pub for Happy Hour and sponsor pharmacy games. There is an entry fee for the teams and individuals to participate in the games. All of the games are centered around the "practice" of pharmacy with a twist to add to the fun.

At 7:00 a.m. on Wednesday, January 23, the doors to the College of Pharmacy had barely opened as the sisters of Gamma Chapter came waltzing through with 71 dozen fresh hot bagels. They whipped out the knives and cut bagels until the blisters on their hands appeared. Then they took a break and spread the bagels with cream cheese. Sisters met the bustling crowds with smiles on their faces and LKS on their sweatshirts. This highlighted their special day devoted to Project HOPE. Their donation of the profits from the bagel sale amounted to $125.00.

The sisters of Phi are planning a Raffle for HOPE. A display titled "Have a Heart for HOPE" is set up in the Pharmacy building. It includes the raffle prizes, a $10.00 gift certificate to an area drug store and etched mortar and pestle cocktail glasses, and Project HOPE information. Theta chapter is also having a raffle in conjunction with Creighton's "Pharmacy Days."

Omicron Chapter in Detroit, Michigan held an October bake sale in the College of Pharmacy at Wayne State University benefiting Project HOPE. Theta Chapter in Omaha, Nebraska sells hot dogs.

On behalf of the Project HOPE Committee, I trust that this report of the Midwestern Region's activities will help other chapters with ideas of ways to raise funds for Project HOPE.

70 dozen sold and only 1 dozen to go, Gamma sisters Maggie Harmon, Toddie Brenic, Barb Corsiglia, Theresa Han, and Jill Schenk are all smiles.

pharmacist was the first person to alert the federal authorities about the E-Ferol® dangers; a pharmacist initiated the recall of a liniment from the shelves thus removing a major cause of childhood poisonings from the public; pharmacists save thousands of dollars annually recommending cheaper, equally effective antibiotics for patients; pharmacists routinely save patients from repeated exposures to allergenic substances, and the list goes on. Some of the services we offer are so innovative for the profession that we are individually and collectively amazed. By the magnitude of the impact, we assume the whole world knows what we do and how good we are at it. But they don't, and it's not their job to find out; it's ours to tell them.

There are as many ways to get the word out as there are pharmacists to give it. We are our own best salesforce; "nobody does it better," as the song goes. From the national level with the newly created American Pharmaceutical Association Political Action Committee and nationally coordinated public relations campaigns on drug abuse and pharmacy as a career choice, to local "classics" such as weekly newspaper columns, feature articles about today's new pharmacist, spots on local access television, talks to service groups, schools, career days, we have numerous opportunities to influence the public positively about our profession. But we're just not motivated and/or organized to do this. We must become so.

Let's peel off our armor, come out of our shells and start spreading the word everywhere that we're highly educated and very eager to provide innovative services and information for our patients. We can create the awareness for the need that we are already filling. Then with the public and political support, we can start to write our own scripts when it comes to negotiating with insurance companies, passing state and federal legislation, and receiving fair compensation for our services.

I want to challenge each one of my sisters to do one thing this year to increase the public's awareness of pharmacy. If stage fright prevents you from personally giving a talk or working at a health fair booth, then you must support someone else who will, through your dues or contributions to your associations or PAC's. May I suggest $100 per year per pharmacist. A day's wages for P.R. is a bargain.

We've got a great story to tell; let's cast off the cloak of perceived conceit and share the good word.

Fraternally,
E. Michelle (Monezis) Valentine, AO '72

ELDER-HEALTH: A PARTNERSHIP IN CARE

by Madeline Feinberg

The elderly are the fastest growing segment of our population. Not surprisingly, while those persons 65 years and older represent only 11% of our population, they take over 30% of prescribed medications. In the geriatric patient, medication therapy is directed towards disease management or chronic care. And for 95% of our elderly, this chronic care therapy is administered in the home setting, not in long term care institutions. Consequently, the community pharmacist can anticipate that more of his/her patients will be elderly, and particularly since the elderly are living longer, these elderly patients will be on a multiplicity of medications.

We now recognize that the older population is more at risk to problems with their medications. Many factors impinge on the outcome of a particular therapeutic regimen: physiological changes with aging, social, psychological and economic changes as well as changes in nutritional status may play a significant role. Improper use of medications, or non-compliance, further complicates the picture. Elderly are probably no more or less compliant than the general population, but due to the multiplicity of drugs and diseases, as well as possible hearing and visual limitations, these patients may suffer more problems from drug misuse.

To this end, the Elder-Health Program, developed by Dr. Peter Lamy, University of Maryland School of Pharmacy, established Elder-Ed, a consumer oriented drug education program for older adults. This program is based on the premise that patients need to get involved in their treatment plan. Patients need to ask questions from providers about their diagnoses and drug regimens. They need to bring information to the providers about other illnesses and medications prescribed, as well as over the counter drugs. This program is committed to the concept that patients need to become active partners in the health care process, not simply passive recipients. Preventive care and self-care are also emphasized when appropriate.

Practicing pharmacists and pharmacy students in Maryland have been carrying this message to elderly citizens in senior centers, residential complexes, church and civic organizations, as well as to the media, both radio, TV and newspapers. The Maryland Pharmaceutical Association has adopted the Elder-Ed program as its centennial project in 1982 and devoted an issue of its monthly journal to the "how to" of setting up and giving talks about medications to elderly. Topics outlined in the journal are pertinent to the pharmacist-patient relationship and cover the following subjects: the wise use of drugs; the physiology of aging and how it may affect drug response; generic drugs and cost savings, pharmacy services; need for vitamin and mineral supplement and nutritional concerns of older patients; selecting the appropriate non-prescription medications, including laxatives, antacids, cough and cold products and analgesics. Eleven pamphlets are available, including a wallet-sized medication record card, to accompany these presentations or for distribution at the pharmacy counter. Reprints of the Maryland Pharmacist, June 1982 are also available. Write to Elder-Health, 20 North Pine Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201 or call 301-528-3243. Thanks to the support of Parke-Davis, these materials are available in bulk quantities at no charge.

This writer would be delighted to assist pharmacists who wish to get involved in similar community outreach efforts. Let's hear from you and share our experiences. Everybody benefits!

ELDER-CARE® A Professional Service for Pharmacists from Parke-Davis Company

Many readers of this newsletter may already be familiar with Elder-Care®, the counter-side component of Elder-Ed. Working with members of the faculty at the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy, the Parke-Davis Company has produced posters, decals and counter displays for pharmacists who wish to promote their services to elderly patients. Materials provided are intended to identify the pharmacist as one who is prepared to give special attention to the needs and concerns of the older patient. A quarterly newsletter which abstracts current literature on issues relating to drug therapy, nutrition, dental care and patient management for the geriatric patient is available to pharmacists upon request. To receive these materials, write to Mr. Joe Dilger, Director Professional and Trade Relations, Parke-Davis Company, 201 Tabor Road, Morris Plains, New Jersey 07950.

Elder-Care®, in cooperation with the University of Maryland, has produced a powerful award-winning documentary, The Medicated Generation, which will soon be aired nationally on PBS and other television stations. Watch for local programming. Encourage your patients to tune in!

PHARMACIST OF THE YEAR

MARY ALICE COOMBS, of Ocean Gate, New Jersey, was named the Ocean County Society of Pharmacists 1984 PHARMACIST OF THE YEAR. The award was presented at the society's dinner party on December 9, 1984.

The award, the society's most prestigious, is given annually to the member pharmacist who most embodies the organization's highest ideals of professionalism and humanitarian service to the community. Ms. Coombs, a home-care pharmacist with Halligan's Drugs and Sickroom Services was presented with the award by the President of the society, Mr. Richard Short.

MARY ALICE COOMBS is a graduate of the Brooklyn College of Pharmacy, Long Island University, and has completed a Residency Program at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons. She was initiated into Alpha Eta Chapter at Long Island University and was a founding member of Alpha Eta Alumnae in 1956.

OSOL GRANT ESTABLISHED THROUGH TRUST

Eta Alumnae Chapter has transferred $2,500 from its local grant fund to the Lambda Kappa Sigma Educational Trust to establish the Virginia L. Osol Memorial Grant to be awarded to an Eta Collegiate member at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science. It is expected that the first Osol Grant will be awarded by March 1986 from funds accumulated in the Trust.

Eta Alumnae Chapter has been funding a grant to an Eta Collegiate member for about 10 years. As the result of numerous raffles, yard sales, generous donations, and investing in Certificates of Deposit, the interest resulting from investment has made possible one award a year. The Grant has been traditionally presented on Hygeia Day. Recipients have been selected by an Alumnae Committee from among those who apply for the Grant. The rules governing the selection of candidates are very similar to the rules for the Cora E. Craven Educational Grant.

Virginia Osol was the Founding President of Eta Alumnae Chapter in 1930 and was extremely active in all LKS activities, having served as an Eta Alumnae Chapter officer in addition to serving as Grand Editor, Grand President, Honorary Advisor, Chairman of numerous committees — especially Conventions and Regional Meetings held in Philadelphia and nearby. Regional Meetings were originated by Virginia early during WW II when travel was restricted and conventions could not be arranged. The first Regional Meeting was held in Atlantic City at the Claridge Hotel and chapters and members from the Eastern Region attended — including Cora Craven.

Eta Alumnae Chapter is particularly proud to be able to combine its Grant funds with the LKS Trust in a manner that will ensure that Virginia L. Osol's contributions to the fraternity will be remembered. The Chapter wishes to acknowledge a generous contribution to the Grant fund from Dr. Arthur Osol and his continued encouragement to all Eta Alumnae. Any members who wish to add to the base of the Osol Grant may send their checks to the Lambda Kappa Sigma Educational Trust, in care of Adele Lowe, and indicate that the funds should be applied to the Virginia L. Osol Memorial Grant.

IPSF UPDATE

by Christine Fong — Eta Chapter

This summer I was fortunate enough to have the opportunity to represent the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, Lambda Kappa Sigma, and the United States at the International Pharmaceutical Students Federation, better known as IPSF.

IPSF was founded in London in 1948. The aim of the Federation is to be a professional, nonpolitical organization, uniting pharmacy students from all over the world to discuss common problems and to exchange ideas. PCPS is the only pharmacy school in the United States that is a full member of IPSF. Student APHA, Lambda Kappa Sigma, Kappa Psi, and Kappa Epsilon fraternities have all had some involvement with the federation in the past.

The topic of this year's Congress was Drug Information. We were treated to lectures by some of the most knowledgeable professors in Egypt. The United States has a superior drug information system and it was surprising to see how many countries use our systems. In addition to the main theme each delegate was given an opportunity to attend one of seven workshops: 1) The role of the pharmacist in industry, 2) the role of the pharmacist in cosmetics, 3) Social and Administrative Pharmacy, 4) Geriatric Pharmacy, 5) the role of the pharmacist in veterinary medicine, 6) the role of the pharmacist in preventive medicine, 7) IPSF — Where do we go from here? One of the main highlights for me was a lecture on ancient medicine of the Egyptians where the process of mummification was presented to us in a step by step detail method.

In addition to attending meetings and talks on various aspects of pharmacy, there was plenty of time for socializing with pharmacy students from all over the world. The Congress hosted students from eighteen different countries including Great Britain, France, Lebanon, Malaysia, Zimbabwe, Israel, Poland, and many more. The Congress also gave us an opportunity to learn about different pharmacy programs and student organizations. For instance, did you know that in Great Britain the students spend four years in the classroom learning about the same subjects that we do? However, their fifth year is spent in a pre-registration program that is similar to doing a residency program here in the states. For one year the student works as a chemist in a hospital or pharmaceutical industry. Upon completion of the pre-reg year the student is a full-fledged pharmacist and doesn't even have to take boards!!

In our spare time we did get to do some sight-seeing — we did get to see one of the seven wonders of the world — the Great Pyramids. Egypt has much to offer its visitors. The entire Egyptian culture was a real experience. Egyptian food really tested one's palate and it was hard getting used to the idea that in order to drink water you had to buy bottled mineral water rather than just turning on the faucet. Many of us had a difficult time adjusting to a different diet and this Congress was affectionately nicknamed the "Imodium" Congress.

IPSF has much to offer the students in the U.S. One of the programs that IPSF sponsors is Student Exchange (SE). This program is open to third, fourth, and fifth year students as well as recent graduates who meet certain criteria. The program allows students to spend time during the summer working in such places as Germany, Sweden, Great Britain, the Netherlands, or one of the many other countries that are participants of SE.

In addition to SE we are presently preparing for next year's Congress — the 31st Annual IPSF Congress to be held in Holland, August 7-17, 1985. The topic of the Congress is Cancer.

Lambda Kappa Sigma, although once active, is still considered by the IPSF as an associate member. Fraternities are unheard of in Europe as well as other parts of the world and many of the delegates were amazed and interested in the idea and purpose of a fraternity. Maybe LKS can reinstitute its membership and show the rest of the world our interest in women and pharmacy worldwide. If any of the collegiate chapters are interested in participating in the SE by sending a participant to another country or hosting a foreign pharmacy student or interested in attending the 31st Annual Congress, please contact me for further details. My address is: Christine Fong, 1192 Dickerson Road, P.O. Box 1187, North Wales, PA 19454, (215) 386-5503.

It's an experience that you will never forget!!

Donna Dancer and Judy Riffie, Grand Council members, came to visit our chapter in November. Their visit was very informative and helpful.

At Christmas time, we visited the children's ward at our hospital. We sang Christmas carols and Santa Claus gave the children presents.

We are presently getting ready for Pharmacy Week at our school. This is an annual project which promotes public awareness of our profession and health care.

Michelle Valentine, Alpha Omicron; Barbara Slover, Alpha Epsilon; Ginger Scott, Alpha Nu; and Charma Konnor, Omicron, paused for this pose at the Symposium on Women in Pharmacy sponsored by the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association in November. The meeting brought together women in pharmacy from across the country to discuss issues and become involved in "networking" with other women pharmacists. Charma Konnor led a program on "The Two Career Pharmacist — Career vs Job" and served as facilitator for the workshops centering on the theme "Sharing the Load."

DR. B. OLIVE COLE GRADUATE EDUCATIONAL GRANT

The B. Olive Cole Graduate Educational Grant Committee has awarded the Grant for 1984 to Mary Eloise Stoikes, a graduate of Drake University in 1983, who is doing graduate work at North Dakota State University in Fargo, ND, majoring in Hospital Pharmacy. Mary has stated her career goals very succinctly: To accept the challenge of working with the hospital inpatient population by means of routine tasks and clinical application and further expanding professionalism through educational programs to fit the needs of the institution. She would like to practice in a hospital connected with a teaching institution in order to keep current with the state of the art in pharmacy and medicine. Her research project is titled, "Permeability of Latex and Polyvinyl Gloves to Antineoplastic Drugs." Mary was a collegiate member of Nu Chapter and is now active as a Stray Lamb.

Albany College of Pharmacy

The year started out with our annual picnic to welcome the new students to ACP. September ended with a sundae sale and a visit to the Albany Ronald McDonald House. Some of our sisters helped in the remodeling of the house and will soon be volunteering their time to help out.

We began October with a wine and cheese party to welcome alumna sister Mary Barnes back from a year spent in England. A group of sisters had the opportunity to celebrate Founder's Day in our founding city of Boston with our sisters from Alpha Chapter. We are looking forward to their visit to Albany. Back in Albany, we again celebrated Founder's Day with the rest of the sisters who couldn't go to Boston with a fantastic dinner at Grimaldi's followed by a slide show about Project HOPE. Also in October we were visited by Michelle DeBalko, the Northeastern Regional Supervisor. It was a very informative visit and we had the opportunity to discuss some new ideas and goals that we hope to achieve.

November 2 and 3 was the annual Greek Weekend sponsored by the Interfraternity Council here at ACP. Saturday night we all kicked up our heels to the music of The Sharks at the dinner-dance. Also during the month of November we held a raffle to raise money for the LKS Educational Trust, and sponsored our annual Freshmen Sub Party in order to get acquainted with the new students here and for them to get acquainted with LKS. The semester ended with our annual Christmas Bazaar where we sold handmade ornaments, mistletoe, and baked goods to benefit Project HOPE.

We started out the second semester with a party honoring our twelve senior sisters. We wish them congratulations and good luck in the future. We recently initiated nineteen new sisters, bringing our active membership to 69 sisters.

Upcoming events are an ice-skating party, Hygeia Day, and IFC Sports Week (a sports competition among the four fraternities on campus). Also in the works is our new professional project — the "Drug-of-the-Month" display, which will be an information center on new drugs and new trends in pharmacy.

GAMMA

University of Illinois

Hello to all from the Gals at Gamma! This is a special year for us here at the University of Illinois Health Sciences Center. The College of Pharmacy is celebrating its 125th anniversary, and LKS Gamma Chapter is proud to be a part of it!

There will be several activities throughout the year to celebrate this special event. Our chapter will have a booth at the college's open house on Saturday, May 4th, we will be using P.A.D.A. as our theme. Also for our Hygeia Day celebration we are planning a special presentation on P.A.D.A. open to all, campus-wide.

Enthusiasm is in the air, and we are taking advantage of it. We started off the year with a very entertaining and enthusiastic pledge class.

Our visibility seems to be greater this year. One of our members, Ellen Miller made a special design for us to put on our gold and blue sweatshirts. We all are proud to parade around in our now well recognized shirts!

We are always busy planning our next bagel sale, and it never seems to be soon enough! We are well known for our bagel sales. Our last sale was Jan. 23, we ordered 71 dozen bagels and sold out in less than four hours. We are planning on donating the profits from this bagel sale to Project HOPE.

The 125th Birthday of the college is keeping us busy, but never too busy. . . the Gamma Chapter would like to extend an open invitation to any and all sisters of LKS for any of our special events or any time you may "just happen to be in the neighborhood."

Gamma Chapter proudly sings along to the Happy Birthday Song, while in all our hearts we dream of Gamma Chapter's growing strength, that makes our faces beam!

DELTA

University of Pittsburgh

Delta Chapter is bringing a close to one of the most successful years in our history. After acquiring 19 more pledges this term, our grand total now stands at 65 sisters. We send our best wishes to these new pledges and extend a special congratulation to Sharon Richardson, who was the recipient of a Cora E. Craven Educational Grant.

To toast in the new year, Delta Chapter held its annual formal. It was a chance for the sisters to get together and shake off that January chill. Not long after we had kicked off our dancing shoes, it was time to get back down to business. February 11-15 was declared Pharmacy Week here at the University of Pittsburgh, and Delta Chapter sponsored "The Professional Look." This program demonstrated several different ways to improve your professional appearance and added diversity to the week's events. We are now in the process of planning an officer induction and senior banquet to close out the year.

ETA

Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science

We would like to share some of our highlights from our first semester here at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, as we move into yet another semester of activity.

Following our First Rush, with a Chinese theme, we proceeded to take our prospective pledges out for a scrumptious dinner, for our Second Rush. To make this rush all the more special, we were fortunate to have Patricia Kienle, Grand President, and Ruth Brown, Mid-eastern Regional Supervisor in atten-dence. They definitely helped make our night a real success.

Eta Chapter sponsored many fundraisers throughout the semester, but perhaps the most exciting fund-raiser we participated in was a Homecoming event sponsored by PCP&S for the alumni.

Eta Chapter, with the artistic help of Ruth Brown (our poster artist), decorated a corner of the cafeteria and displayed various Lambda items such as our charter, lambs, mugs, chalices, trophies, and scrapbooks. We also sold Lambda cookbooks which turned out to be a big success. We are eagerly awaiting Homecoming 1985, which we hope will bring even more alumni back to their alma mater.

We ended our semester with a visit to the Ronald McDonald Home, where we played with the children, took gifts of toys and various canned goods, and generally tried to spread cheer to the parents and children alike.

In closing, we would like to wish all Lambda sisters everywhere a healthy, happy, and prosperous 1985.

NU

Drake University

Greetings from Nu Chapter.

We started the year (Fall '84) with four new actives: Pat Briick, Cathy Eakins, Mary Grubisich, and Deb Middleton. The College of Pharmacy started their rush with a spaghetti dinner for the incoming freshmen and transfer students. Our informal rush party was a chili dinner and formal rush we entertained with a slide show and served cookies and punch. At the beginning of pledging, the actives took the pledges one early morning to Perkins for breakfast.

Our chapter has been very busy with professional projects. We had Donna Johnson, a Nu chapter alumna, speak about her job as a drug representative. Our chapter also took a tour of the Ronald McDonald House located at Methodist Hospital in Des Moines. We participated in Drake's Chapter of Student APhA's annual Health Fair. Nu Chapter passed out information on donor cards, and passed out our cough and cold pamphlets that we put together in the fall of 1983. This semester we are having speakers from Life Flight and Planned Parenthood. We once again held Hopscotch for HOPE on Drake's campus and had a fun time.

After our pledging, we had a hayride with Kappa Psi; went horseback riding; celebrated Founder's Day and after the ceremony had cake and punch; participated in the Kappa Psi Halloween party; had a Thanksgiving dinner for our chapter; and a Yankee Swap in December.

Now we are busy tackling a new semester. Two business meetings got us back on our feet. We discussed some goals for the coming year and reviewed some upcoming events.

First on our list of priorities was to activate our fall pledges. Nu Chapter is proud to introduce four new sisters: Laura Hildebrandt, Marta Neil, Heidi Price, and Stephanie Schwach. Congratulations ladies! Next on our agenda is our spring rush. We are really looking forward to these activities. Informal rush was January 29th and we held an indoor picnic. Our formal rush was on February 4th followed by pledging on the 8th. We hopped for HOPE at a local mall on February 23rd. We hop 200 games with some added support from Duane and Floppy. We promoted the project prior to the 23rd by appearing in the DUANE AND FLOPPY SHOW — a TV cartoon show seen on a local network. Just think, the lambs of Nu Chapter are TV stars!!! Congratulations to Kathy Bradley, President of Nu Chapter, who will be interning with McNeil Corporation this summer.

TAU

Duquesne University

As the fall semester came to an end, the election of the 1985 executive board took place. We congratulate President Joyce Hahn, First Vice President Cathy Laska, Second Vice President Cheri Lober, Corresponding Secretary Geri Cegelski, Recording Secretary Annette Tucciarone, Treasurer Carrie Willison, Pledge Mistress Terry Kwiatek, and Historian Berni Brezinski. We would also like to congratulate the 1984 executive board for a job well done.

Other events marking the finish of the fall 1984 semester include the Christmas dinner dance and Christmas party on November 30. December 13 was another busy evening for LKS sisters who attended the Christmas party. Refreshments were served and gifts were exchanged with the help of our elves, played by sisters Jenifer Blasinsky and Terry Kwiatek.

Professional programs are receiving a big response. Young children are responding well to the presentation of "What is a Pharmacist?" as well as the elderly to "What You Don't Know About Drugs Can Hurt You."

The first rush party held to attract prospective pledges took place on January 24. "Pajama Party" was the theme for this gathering at which everyone attending wore sleepwear. The second rush party, held January 29, presented a formal theme. Six pledges were accepted.

This semester's fund-raisers will include a hoagie sale, a raffle ticket and bumper sticker sale. Money from these sales will go toward both professional programs and social events planned for the Fraternity. Other events planned include a dinner dance, a parent tea and senior banquet.

Congratulations are in order to three Tau Chapter collegiates who were the recipients of the Cora E. Craven Educational Grant. They are Linda Brody, Joyce Hahn and Marijo Kraisinger.

Congratulations also go out to alumna Nicolette Pappada and collegiate Carrie Willison on their engagements.

We wish all sisters good fortune and the best of luck for 1985.

PHI

Butler University

Greetings from Phi Chapter. Fall started with a "Rush" of activities, including "Lettuce Get Together," "With LKS, you've got an ace in your pocket," "Bring your own banana," and ended with one of our chapter's favorite activities, our Rush fondue party at the Garden House. Our successful Rush ended with 12 women pledging LKS.

Phi Chapter demonstrated its philanthropic spirit by supporting the American Diabetes Association with our help during their annual golf benefit at Hillcrest Country Club. We also participated in the Great American Smoke-Out which was a campus-wide effort.

A special thrill was felt by everyone when our delightful Executive Director, Mary Grear, visited with us on our September 18th Chapter meeting! We hope you all have the opportunity to meet Mary Grear. She is quite a dynamic person!

Phi members sell "Trick or Treat Bags" for Halloween as a money maker for our chapter. This activity was received with enthusiasm by the entire campus last year, so, we decided to have a "repeat performance." We also sold raffle tickets this Fall. We raffled a gift certificate from Hook's Drug Stores, a wedgewood mortar and pestle and a set of "Historical Events in Pharmacy" etched cocktail glasses.

Thanksgiving found Phi members busy with a campus-wide cancer drive. We celebrated Founder's Day by offering a professional speaker in the field of pharmacy for the entire student body.

Our pledges held a very practical and helpful pledge project. They compiled a directory of universities and colleges available to do graduate work in the field of pharmacy. We are looking forward to publication of the compilation.

LKS will be sharing Spring this year with Phi Delta Chi and Kappa Psi by planning an all-pharmacy dance. An enjoyable evening will be had by all.

Our new pledges were initiated on Sunday, February 5. The initiation ends with Big Sis's revealing their identity to their Little Sis.

We have a new money making project. In conjunction with the local chain drug store, we will be sponsoring check cashing cards. This will be of benefit to both community and campus and Phi chapter will be able to reap 50% of the profits.

Along with the other Pharmacy organizations on campus, Phi Chapter will help sponsor the Pharmacy Extravaganza which will be held March 1st at the Sheraton Meridian in Indianapolis.

Our annual faculty luncheon is held at noon on April 17th. This is an enjoyable luncheon held in the Pharmacy building which allows the members to show their appreciation to the faculty.

Phi sisters and prospective pledges enjoyed the annual Rush Fondue Party.

PHI ALUMNAE

Indianapolis, IN

We have held some diverse and interesting meetings since last fall's report. The fall was largely devoted to fundraising projects: we sold Longenberger Baskets, Current Stationery, and more LKS Cookbooks. Then for our holiday season party, members shared favorite hors d'oeuvres and desserts, in addition to donating food items to the Metropolitan Food Pantry before Christmas. Our first several meetings of 1985 feature some topics considered Women's Health Issues. For our enlightenment, Dr. Jeanne Hawkins-VanTyle has prepared continuing education programs on PMS, Calcium Needs in Women, and New Antibiotics. Spring meetings will concentrate on election of new officers and preparations for the exciting international convention in Indianapolis in August of 1986.

OMEGA

University of South Carolina

Hello from Omega Chapter! During the fall semester we had a pledge class consisting of 9 pledges. Our Rush parties included a "Welcome Back to School Party" and a "Spuds & Suds" party for our 3rd and 4th year girls. This semester our new initiates gave a very successful "Hot Apple Cider Party" for our Spring Rushees.

Our activities have included a Bingo Party for the residents of Driftwood Nursing Home in Charleston, SC. This was really a great deal of fun and we are hoping that it will become an annual event. Other activities included working with Kappa Psi Fraternity to raise money in the Charlie Post Road Race, also held in Charleston. In March we plan to offer a program to the College of Pharmacy entitled "Pharmacists Against Drug Abuse". Fund-raisers for the year included a Turkey Raffle in November, a Tupperware Party and our very successful Valentine's Day Prescriptions sold on Valentine's Day.

The members of Omega Chapter and their guests enjoyed the annual LKS Formal held December 11. Our recognition banquet was held on March 29. This rounded out our 1984-85 academic year and leaves us with new goals and expectations for the 1985-86 school year.

Omega Chapter would like to thank Denise Lambert, President, and her executive board for the great job they did this past year. We would also like to extend our thanks to Mrs. Margaret Bobo, Fraternity Advisor, for all of the time and effort she so graciously gives.

ALPHA ZETA

St. Louis College of Pharmacy

The sisters of Lambda Kappa Sigma, Alpha Zeta Chapter, started the 1984-1985 school year in the right direction. With a brand new house, many money-making projects and new pledges, things are looking good for the sisters of LKS.

Luck was on our side when we found this very spacious three-story house. At the present time, there are five sisters who live in the house. It is located at 4204 W. Pine, St. Louis, MO and only five blocks away from the college of pharmacy. We are starting to decorate the insides with furniture, composites, lambs, our greek letters and emblems. A special thanks goes to our alumnae for their donations and support.

Our famous bagel sales were scheduled almost every two weeks. Everyone just loves those bagels with cream cheese! Another money maker, a successful Hoagie sandwich sale, was a refreshing break for students from the cafeteria's menu. We had our annual Christmas Bazaar which included homemade cookies, candies, ornaments, and Christmas stocking stuffers. All proceeds went to our foster child, Luwanda Yazzie, of New Mexico. We've had many bake sales and sold makeup from Mary Kay.

Before we left for Christmas break on Dec. 20, we had a Christmas Party for our sisters and unaffiliated girls and their dates. Pledging started Jan. 28, and we would like to congratulate our little lambs on a good choice. The LKS pledge class of 1984 received the best overall grade point average during pledging out of all the fraternities on campus. Congratulations!

We have had a very busy and exciting year so far and we plan to make the rest of it just as rewarding. We send our best wishes to the rest of our sisters.

ALPHA IOTA

Ferris State College

We had ten girls pledging Fall quarter. In addition to our quarterly professional projects, we participated in homecoming. We held our annual homecoming Mum Sale for Project HOPE raising over $300 on homecoming day. One of our sisters, Karen Reid, ran for homecoming and was co-sponsored by LKS and Kappa Psi. Our biggest project was building the float. The theme of a "Salute to the Olympics" was brought to life in a special LKS/Phi Delta Chi float entitled The New Olympic Event: Tubing. Tubing is a very popular pastime in the Big Rapids area. The homecoming weekend was topped off with an alumnae/collegiate dinner and dance with the men of Kappa Psi. Homecoming 1984 will not soon be forgotten by the Lambs of FSC.

In professional activities winter quarter we helped the men of Phi Delta Chi with the Red Cross Blood Drive, and also sponsored two guest speakers for the School of Pharmacy. Mr. Jim Reisgrat of Upjohn spoke on prospective payment programs and their effect on pharmacy. Mr. Kenneth N. Larsen, president of Zenith Laboratories, N.J. spoke on the impact of the Drug Price Competition Act just recently signed by the President.

The Christmas season kept us quite busy with our Christmas Party for Underprivileged Children, and our own annual Christmas Party and potluck supper.

We have been busy with new professional activities for the School of Pharmacy this quarter. They included working two nights a week running the Pharmacy Library, and working one day a week in the Historical Pharmacy, so that both can remain open to the public. Alpha Iota Chapter has also been working on a Professional Project for the School of Pharmacy. It will be the purchase of a micro-fiche reader for the Pharmacy Library.

We are holding our Winter Formal weekend in Lansing, MI, this year and everyone is looking forward to a wonderful weekend of skiing and relaxation.

ALPHA MU

University of Toledo

This fall we started a new tradition by entering a decorated car in the University Homecoming Parade, and revived an old tradition by having a Christmas party and gift exchange. We also held our traditional Poinsettia Sale in December and raised a handsome profit.

February events included a "Night Out at the Pub" to raise money for Project HOPE. The evening featured suppos-itory rolling and capsule punching for those who wished to test their skills. We also had a very pleasant visit with our Regional Supervisor, Donna Dancer. March started off with our first rush activity, a coffee and donuts break, and a professional speaker.

Most of our work this quarter has been centered around organizing a scholarship in memory of our past fraternity advisor, Mrs. Marcella Roll. We are currently soliciting our alumnae for contributions and making plans for money-making projects to establish the scholarship fund.

Spring quarter, pledging activities, and hopefully lots of sunshine are keeping us busy.

ALPHA LAMBDA

University of British Columbia

In October we had fifteen women pledge to join our chapter. They immediately went to work on a pledge project which was a campus canned food service. Goods from the drive were donated to the Salvation Army.

On Founder's Day, we had our very first official candlelight ceremony, and it was a great success! We plan to continue this tradition in future years. Donna Fujii, our Regional Representative, came up to Vancouver to help us celebrate the occasion. Following the ceremony, we went out with our pledges for an excellent Chinese dinner, during which Donna gave us a fascinating talk on the history of LKS.

Our educational coordinators, Sherry Coutts and Jane Cocciolo, organized a seminar on ostomy supplies.

We ended the term with a festive Christmas party during a lunch hour meeting. Our president, Janice Williamson, surprised us with decorations, candy canes and nostalgic music!

Our biggest fund-raiser of the year, Monte Carlo Night, was held on January 26, 1985. This event involves the setting up of a casino where people gamble with "funny money" and then use their winnings to bid for auction prizes at the end of the evening. All of these prizes, including our door prize, a ski weekend for two, are donated by local businesses.

We're also organizing our annual "Meet The Manufacturers Night", where representatives from drug manufacturing companies are invited to display their products to pharmacy students.

We make money on this event by charging the manufacturers a rental fee for their display booths. Last year this event was a sell-out with 200 people attending. Wishing you all a happy and successful 1985!

ALPHA NU

University of Kentucky

The lambs of Alpha Nu celebrated Founder's Day on October 18 with a get together. The pledges arrived after the ceremony, and they were pinned by their big sisters.

On November 8, a Big Sis/Little Sis dinner was held at Chi Chi's Restaurant.

We added a different twist to our next meeting at which we enjoyed a pot luck dinner. After dinner we finalized plans for our annual Christmas Party. Everyone brought her favorite dish and got a chance to test each other's recipes.

Alpha Nu held its annual Christmas Party, November 30, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel. The theme this year was Mistletoe Mingle which was carried out by decorating the ballroom with mistletoe and candlelight. This last "fling" before final exams was open to the college. Janie Smith, our Second Vice-President, worked very hard on arranging the party.

Alpha Nu initiation and election of new officers was held in late February.

Greetings from Alpha Xi!

This semester is starting off with two rush functions in January and a Valentine's Dance hosted in conjunction with Student APHA. We also plan to continue hypertension and diabetes screenings in the community as professional projects.

Our biggest event for this year will be hosting the Western Regional Meeting this summer.

Finally, Alpha Xi would like to thank Donna Fujii, our new Western Regional Supervisor, for her help and suggestions during her recent visit to Stockton. We are looking forward to working with her at the Regional.

This fall we had a pledge class of 20. During our pledging period, we had activities including an ice cream spree, pizza party, and other activities. The pledges had a bake sale for Project HOPE.

In October our chapter recognized a long time Lambda Kappa Sigma patron, Dr. Albert Wojcik. Dr. Wojcik retired after over 40 years of service. We also celebrated Founder's Day with a ceremony at the Medical Center. Our chapter had a Halloween party with Kappa Psi. We collected personal hygiene items for the Rape and Domestic Violence Center in

"ARE YOU JOINING THE WINNING TRADITION?"

Are you making the trip to Indianapolis? The ladies of the Phi Collegiate and Alumnae Chapters hope so. Plans are under way for the Lambda Kappa Sigma Biennial Convention to be held August 5-9, 1986 in Indianapolis, Indiana. The new and glamorous Radisson Hotel has been selected to house the convention festivities. Located on the fashionable north side of Indianapolis, the Radisson is situated immediately next to a superb collection of retail specialty shops offering you the best in extraordinary and extravagant window shopping and possibly even an opportunity to find those perfect gift items. The choice of restaurants in the immediate walking distance of the hotel is just simply remarkable. And remember, the entertainment committee members are working on some terrific tour packages of the historic districts, national sports facilities, and other locations of special interest. Now, what do you think about coming to Indianapolis? Plan now to join the winning tradition.
